

About the Day

All participants in the Exchange are invited to share their views on the issues around nuclear weapons and interconnections to other local campaign areas.

At workshops in each state short presentations from local activists will be included as part of the background information sharing.

The workshops are specifically targeted for environment non-government organisations, aid and development organisations, church groups, unions and international studies students and academics, as well as those already involved in nuclear issues in Australia and globally.

Each forum will have limited spaces. Registration is essential.

Proposed Schedule:

All participants arrive 9.30am at the venue.

10.00 - 10.30: Introductions

10.30 - 11.30: Section One: Background: presentations on nuclear weapons issues

11.30 - 11.45: Tea break

11.45 - 1pm: Section Two: Three Key Elements: the NPT, the NWC and People Power

1.00 - 1.45: Lunch break

1.45 - 3.30: Exchange: Why nuclear disarmament is important to you: small and large group work

3.30 - 3.45: Tea break

About our workshops

The New Clear Exchange workshops will be a dynamic mix of information and discussion about nuclear weapons issues. We hope to excite lively discussions with ICAN partners and other NGOs on how nuclear disarmament is interconnected with the issues of climate change, aid and development, domestic nuclear issues and social justice.

All workshops run from 10am - 5pm. Registration is essential - fill in the form on the reverse and send in by 3 February 2010.
